THE THIRD SUNDAY OF EASTER

The apostles were “startled and terrified” by the post-resurrection appearance of Jesus in the gospel. Luke tells us that the reason for their being upset is that “they thought they were seeing a ghost.” but there is another reason. In spite of their great love for Jesus, they probably felt down deep at some level, that with his death, it was “all over.” it was going to be an enormous task, a challenge, to preach the teachings of Jesus and carry them out. Jesus’ appearance confirmed that life would never be the same for us. The Easter Mystery challenges us to live differently and to have faith-filled courage to witness with a Christ-like response to the situations of our world and the people we meet. By the character of our lives we proclaim to the world that Christ is risen, a reality that should register in our actions. When the apostles saw the risen Jesus, they knew that the dramatic challenges contained in his teachings wouldn’t fade away. They accepted the challenge.
