No matter what your present or past status in the Catholic Church. No matter what your current family or marital situation. No matter what your past or present religious affiliation. No matter what your personal history, age background, race or color. You are invited, welcomed, accepted and loved at St. Colman Catholic Church.

FIFTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

There is a sense of newness in all three readings today. At the end of their first missionary journey, Paul and Barnabas enthusiastically report on the admission of new members to the church. The seer of Patmos in Revelation witnesses the end time marriage of Christ and his church in a creation made completely new. Before leaving, Jesus in the gospel presents his disciples with his new commandment of love. Each generation of Christians creates a new chapter in the history of our faith. By living the new commandment of love individually we contribute to that growth. Through the faithful, God continues to unfold the new earth, a cleaner environment, a free world, a place of growth for all people. Let us consider where we each fit into this dynamic process with talents and abilities. Seriously consider how you can offer your service to the Church, creating the Body of Christ here in our community.

Fifth Sunday of Easter: A Family Perspective

In today's gospel Jesus tell us: "Love one another." Love holds a family together. It is not what a family does which makes it outstanding, rather it is what it has, love for one another.
