THE FIFTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Most of us do not get the chance to do large and outstanding acts of mercy. But the chances for small and significant acts of mercy face us almost every day. The only thing required is that we stay awake to the possibilities that daily cross our paths. We do this by practicing awareness. There is a dark side to today's Gospel that we also have to keep in mind. And that consists in the non-action of the priest and Levite. Many of us sin, not by what we do, but by what we don't do. Our refusal to see the pain of others; our refusal in allowing our imaginations to connect us to the real needs of others; our turning away from people in need - - these are the sins we commit. Hopefully, we will not allow ourselves to be counted among those who pass by on the other side. May we allow the Lord to mold our hearts into strong and merciful instruments of kindness and compassion.

Thoughts to Reflect on and Share "Like many parts of our lives we have a tendency to over-complicate even the simplest of matters. The same holds true for sacred scripture. When we read it we need to read it through the consistent, simple message of Jesus; love God and love one another. Let His simple message be the words that guide our spirit and life." Don't let your child become a statistic!

80% of kids stop practicing the faith at some point during college. There is a way to keep our kids (grandkids) connected to the faith. Go to www.diopitt.org/newmanconnection and fill out the quick online form. We only need their first and last name and the school they will be attending. A Catholic campus minister at their college will be able to reach out to them and invite them to participate in campus ministry. It takes less than 2 minutes to do it and it might be the most important thing you do for your loved one as they graduate high school!
