THE THIRTIETH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Self-satisfaction is a problem that many of us have to struggle with. Being satisfied with ourselves can put us in a very dangerous position. It can lead to blindness, pride and what is perhaps worst of all, a great separation between others and ourselves. St Francis of Assisi tell us: "I am what I am before God. Nothing else. Nothing more. Nothing less." Look at the tax collector. What made his prayer acceptable to God? The tax collector had not lived as he should have. He probable cheated many people out of a lot of money. But now, he comes before God and confesses what he has done. He knows himself. He has looked into the mirror of self-knowledge and has clearly seen himself. He hasn't been blind to his sins. And now he stands before God and can do no more than cry out: "God, be merciful to me, a sinner." May we have the courage to be as honest with God as this man was. Then we will know the same peace that God surely placed deep into the heart of this humble and honest person.

Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time:
A Family Perspective

Listen to Jesus in today's gospel: "who humbles himself will be exulted." it is not the occasional big events, but the daily humble routine of family life which creates bonds and relationships which last a lifetime.

Halloween
A Family Perspective

Halloween is a time for wearing masks. Because the perfect family does not exist, you do not need to hide behind the mask of being the perfect family. Recognizing and admitting this is the first step to being real. Shed the mask and celebrate the family you are.
